Our holidays are relaxing!

At Interchange Illawarra we believe holidays should be fun. We offer a selection of options available to participants and let the group choose what they would like to do. We do not schedule every minute of every day, instead we are responsive and flexible.

Support is provided by experienced disability support workers who are in many cases already familiar to the participants from other Interchange Illawarra group activities or previous holidays. Where possible we book houses or serviced apartments rather than hotel rooms.

Our support workers try their best to ensure that participants have a great time with their friends and get the most out of their holiday.

Social Support short holidays are generally suitable for participants who have low to moderate support needs.
